It was evident Nathan likes teaching. Kept the class moving. Seemed to like enjoy older people.

Nathan was an excellent teacher and we are glad he is teaching the next courses He has slides, gives us a copy of them, and is so organized! We love him!

Great teacher. Wonderful PowerPoint presentation. Have him back if possible.

None

Loved receiving the outline of each day's topics in print. I am able to go back and revisit topics of interest or where I may have been confused.

His presentation was outstanding YES

Nathan is very organized. Clear in his explanations

Well organized instructor. Patient! I think Thursday's lecture was too hurried and covered too much information. Maybe put some of that on Friday and cut down on Friday's hands-on?

Q5 - Would you recommend this course/instructor to teach again, and any other comments:

Yes

After the experience of my last iPad class, I was hesitant to sign up for this one. But, with Nathan teaching the class, I would automatically know I would learn something and it would be enjoyable.

Yes

YES

Absolutly, but only if Nathan teaches it!

yes

Yes.

Yes

In my opinion this class should be divided into two; one for Google apps only and on for Apple apps. This would allow more time for questions and working within each app to learn the navigation. Also, it would ne helpful for us to follow along with each demonstration, doing it ourselves on our own devices, as the instructor ssslllooowwwlllyyy gave step by step instructions. I hope this doesn't just sound critical, but Nathan, you have a tendency to drop the volume of your voice at the end of completing an explanation. It was hard to hear you at times. Actually, many people do this and I genuinely believe ALL who instruct or teach should be required to complete public speaking training.

Yes

Yes Nathan is ver good

Yes--forget beginning IOS unless restricted to those folks who have never touched an iPhone or iPad.
